

What to expect after you say yes.

A clear timeline and hard guarantees.
Working in 48
hours.

We learn your business before we touch a tool.

The discovery call is a conversation, not a pitch. You tell us the one recurring workflow you want off your plate. We decide together whether one Non-Human Intelligence can own it cleanly.

Live in 48 hours, or your first month is free.

From the moment the call ends, Owl builds. One brain and four specialists stand up the workflow, wire the tools, and stage it on an isolated server. If not running in two days, the first month is refunded.

Your new hire arrives where your team talks.

Owl onboards into your Slack or Telegram — the place your people already work. A dedicated line, a real email, a presence your team can message. No new portal.

Thirty days in, the math has to be obvious.

The workflow runs without you thinking about it. On day 30 we count what Owl saved. If it is not more than £5,000, we refund the month.

We watch it so you don't have to.

Owl runs constant health checks across the whole stack. If something breaks, we know before you do. It is part of the flat fee.

When one workflow is owned, the next is easy.

Owl is built to own a single recurring workflow completely. Once yours runs without you, we stand up the next with the same build and the same guarantees.

Put your name on it.

Owl runs white-label, single tier. Your clients see your brand, not ours. One clean option, available whenever you are ready.

Flat £5,000/month · Cancel anytime · Human Architect