

A worker that runs your business 24/7 — without you.

Not a chatbot. Not software you operate. A worker we build and run inside your business that ships the result while you sleep.

THE OFFER

Flat £5,000/month. Live in 48 hours. If it hasn't paid for itself by day 30, the first month is refunded.

This is not faster software.

ChatGPT is a tool you operate.

NOHUMA is a worker that runs without you.

A tool saves you time when you remember to use it. A worker replies, chases, books and reports — autonomously, around the clock, with no one at the keyboard.

- A tool stops the moment you stop typing. A worker doesn't.

- You don't adopt it. You hire it — and it shows up every day.

It works while you don't.

- Replies to customers in your voice — and sends, after your approval.
 - Chases invoices and late payers on a schedule, not when you remember.
 - Books and reschedules slots 24/7, straight into your calendar.
 - Watches your market and competitors overnight.
 - Writes your weekly report and surfaces what needs you.

Every action is logged. You watch it work from a real control panel. The business runs. You stay in the loop without being in the seat.

UK workers lose ~15 hours a week to admin.

15h

At 40h/week that is ~0.4 of a full-time person, gone every week to work a worker would do. One NOHUMA worker returns that time — and it never takes a sick day, quits, or bills you for leave.

- Real signal, not a pitch: we read a live dental group — 55 pages, 7 workflows done by hand.
- That bottleneck is in nearly every SME we look at.

One price. No seats. No debate.

🕒 — live, or the first month is refunded.

🕒 — if it hasn't saved you more than £5k in human hours by day 30, first month refunded (measured against your own timesheet).

👤 — runs on your environment; data stays yours; portable on exit.

🕒 — month to month; stay because it works.

We run it. You watch it land. That is the entire model.

Hire a worker that doesn't sleep.

Twenty minutes. One workflow. A one-page scope, no obligation. Live in your WhatsApp or Slack within 48 hours.
